

Teaching Teens About Workplace Health and Safety

Publications For Teachers

The Labor Occupational Health Program (LOHP) has tools available to help high school teachers introduce students to health and safety on the job. Our curricula and factsheets (some available in Spanish) teach teens the basics in an interactive and interesting way. Materials cover both job hazards and California law.

Curricula

Factsheets

LOHP has produced several factsheets, in English and Spanish, on teen health and safety. They provide important, easy to read information on workplace rights and responsibilities, job hazards, prohibited work, and legal work hours. One is for all teens, one is for teens doing farm work, and the third provides information to employers who hire teens.
